CA No: CA#

If you suffered a financial loss as a result of this case, a court may require the defendant to reimburse you. In order for a prosecutor to make a request on your behalf, documentation must be provided prior to sentencing. This documentation needs to support the amount you are requesting for restitution. Examples of supporting information would include copies of any bills you've received for losses from the crime, receipts or estimates for replacement or repair of property, pay stubs or tax forms supporting wage loss, etc. If you have insurance that reimbursed you for any losses, you should provide that information, indicating what insurance has paid and what you paid, including your deductible and co-pays. If there are on-going expenses, explain those. The prosecutor may ask the court to hold on to control of the restitution matter until all those on-going expenses have been resolved.

REMEMBER: Sending this form without any supporting information is not sufficient to submit a claim for restitution. Not supplying the information in a timely manner could either delay the process of your request or could result in you being unable to obtain a restitution order.
